Simulation based technique- skill lab visit and training
2017-2018

Date: 20.09.2018

Time: 8.30-10.30Am

The physiology department of Sarada Krishna Homoeopathic Medical College, in collaboration with the department of Practice of Medicine organized a visit to the skill lab of Sarada Krishna Homoeopathic Medical College for I BHMS students on 20-09-2018 from 8.30am to 10.30 am.

The session started with a briefing by Dr.Ajayan, the HoD, Dept. of practice of medicine and also by Dr.S.K.Mini, HoD dept. of Physiology.

The students were divided into four batches of 25 each. Each of which was subdivided into 5 groups. Each group was given demonstration by the PG students and faculties of Practice of Medicine department. The first group of students was given training for Basic life support. The procedure for giving CPR was explained and trained by the three faculties of the department in the three mannequins.

The 'B' batch was given demonstration for nasogastric tube (Ryle's tube). Indication use and gastric lavage was also explained.

The 'C' batch of students had a demonstration of the spirometer. FEV1 and VC were explained

The 'D' batch of students underwent the technique of ECG. Demonstration, explanation and training of lead placement were done. Examination of vital signs is also demonstrated. The students underwent all the four sessions in rotation.

At the end a debriefing session was there. The students enthusiastically demonstrated and were monitored by the faculties in the department. Thus they developed the skill and training to face a real life situation and act accordingly.

SKILL LAB TRAINING 2018-2019

Module No :1

Programme No : 1

Date : 1 /3/2019

Time : 1.30-3.30 pm

Title of the programme : A) Introduction of Simulation based learning.

B) Basic Life Support(CPR).

Introduction:

BLS : It is a primary medical aid provided to a person in an emergency medical situation. BLS comprises initial assessment, airway maintenance, Chest compression and expired air ventilation. Compression should be provided at a rate of 3 cycles per minute. Each cycle consist of 30-35 compressions followed by 2 breaths and a depth of 2.0-2.4 inches. Compressions should not be more than 120/minute.

Total number of students participated : 20

Number of students who were absent : 3

Report :

The Training for the Year 2018-2019 batch was divided into four modules. Each module has 4 programmes of 23 students each. First module is introduction to skill lab and Basic Life Support. The first programme of this module was conducted on 1/3/2019.

Introduction to skill lab and importance of simulation based learning was done by Dr.T.Ajayan, HoD. Dept. of Practice of medicine and co-ordinator SKHMC-SDCCCP. Theoretical class about basic life support was taken by the faculties of Dept. of Physiology. Students were divided into 3 groups and demonstration was done in 3 workstations by Dr. Mini S K, Dr. Reshmy K R and Dr. Deepa.G.S. The students practiced BLS individually on manikins. The programme was concluded by a debriefing session.
